

Contents

Foreword	8
Preface	10
Part I: Introduction
1. Agritourism: Is it really new? Can you benefit from it today?	15
Is it really something new?	18
2. Exploring the Options: A treasury of agritourism possibilities	24
Farmstay, Workshop, Demonstration, & Festival Themes	26
Starting accidentally on purpose	37
Part II: Starting and Growing Gracefully
3. The Business Plan	37
Drawing a roadmap for success	38
Making the roadmap	38
Getting started	40
Continued evaluation and feedback	43
Grow slowly and steadily: How one farm did it	47
Zoning, permits and licenses	50
4. Rules, Regulations & Liability Concerns	50
Liability insurance	51
Searching for an attorney	53
Help from your local agriculture extension agent	54
5. Choosing A Business Structure	55
S Corporations	56
C corporations	57
Non-Profit Corporations	59
Limited Liability Companies	59
Your own preliminary study	60

6. Breaking In: The farm festival or open house as a starting point	62
Planning the event	63
Attracting the media	70
 Part III: Promotion
7. Promoting the Farm: An overview of possibilities	70
The farm open house or one-time festival	71
Online marketing	72
Signs and curb appeal	72
Networking with larger organizations	73
The farm journal	74
Paid advertising	74
Promoting with positive customer feedback	75
8. Online Marketing	78
The website	80
The E-Newsletter	83
The weblog or “blog”	84
More ways to draw traffic to your website and weblog	85
9. Free Promotion	88
Collecting addresses for news releases	88
The headline	90
Follow-up	92
10. The Farm Journal	95
What about venting... gossip... and the like?	98
Setting up a personal journaling routine	99
Starting points and prompts	99
Sharing the journal with farm customers	100
Sharing your journal via your computer	102
11. Networking with Larger Organizations	103
What are the benefits?	105
What to watch out for	106
The Slow Food Movement	110
Size and location—what to consider	115

12. Signs & Curb Appeal	115
Regulations	116
Designing, style and practical materials	117
Size	118
Materials	118
Handmade, quick sign shop, or professionally, custom-made?	118
More design tips	121
Signs provided by larger organizations	124
Curb appeal and special touches	124
 Part IV: Close Ups
13. Agritourism with an Educational Emphasis	127
On-farm education for school children	128
Education for adults	132
Continuing education units	132
Internships	134
14. Agritourism and the Bed and Breakfast (B&B)	137
Could the wall tent idea work for you?	138
Finding customers for the farm B&B	139
The business of B&Bs	141
Selling value-added products	144
15. Hosting Professional Chefs	146
Working directly with chefs	147
Hosting chefs on your own farm	148
On-farm chef schools	149
Finding chefs	150
Each connection strengthens the whole	151
Opening the doors to selling to restaurants	151
16. The Dairy: From cheese-making classes to school tours	153
A brief history of the farms	153
The beginnings of agritourism	154
The open houses	154
Tours by appointment	154
Cheesemaking classes	155

Marketing the agritourism	156
Business planning, safety, and liability	156
The agritourism payoff	156
17. Beyond wagon rides: Healing arts on the farm, and a fresh look at horses and petting zoos	158
Day spa on a lavender farm	159
Sharing the promotion with the farm and other businesses	160
Human interaction with animals, including horses. “Petting zoos.”	164
Safety and liability issues	169
Allowing success to breed more success while growing gradually	172
18. Seasonal Agritourism Events	172
Diversified promotion	175
Pricing and operating on-farm events	175
The agritourism payoff	176
Heirloom melons as an agritourism draw	177
Sharing melons and selling them to others	178
Choosing melons for your patch	179
Epilogue: Agritourism around the world	182
The Fertile Skagit Valley, USA Pacific Northwest	184
The French countryside	185
The Island of Crete	189
Cape Town, South Africa	192
Concluding thoughts	197
Resources	199
Index	202